A practice which is becoming a nuisance is for automobile delication. Mr. Pidge used to drive stages, but over which he had not travelled for a full half century. As they rode along Mr. Pidge recalled many landmarks and told of mr. things of which Mr. Gilbert had never heard, though long familiar with the territory. At one point, near Brooklyn, at the Sam Cooper place. Mr. Pidge told of a big tannery that operated there 75 years ago. Mr. Gilbert thought the mind of the near-centenarian was not clear on this point, but later found by investigation that Mr. Pidge was correct.
